

The path of Creation

The path of Creation is Apparent Causality and is how action and reaction occur within each phase of the path of Evolution. As anything that is similar to Recursion is in fact Recursion, then the specific absence of something occurring in a specifically recursive situation will not merely evoke that which it is the specific absence of, but cause it to be actualized if the circumstances allow the possibility.

